Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

The City of Nevada has given up its short-wave receiving set. The cost of the set is $108. It is to be regretted that the city council regarded this investment as too much. It would have been an investment for more efficiently enforcing the law. For, this receiving set in a matter of minutes after a crime has been committed anywhere in the city or county would apprise all peace officers of the fact and put them on the trail of the criminal.

Mine owners of the county have contributed a total of $4,000, the entire cost of installing a short-wave broadcast station at the headquarters of the State Highway Patrol in Grass Valley. This is the only state broadcast station in California. Police departments of the larger cities of course have broadcast stations. In this county, in which it has been repealedly demonstrated, refugees from justice are often apprehended, it goes without saying that every village, town or city, should have a receiving set to take advantage of the broadctsts from the State Highway patrol office. Hit-run drivers, thieves, highway robbers and murderers cannot run fast enough afoot or in cars to escape the short-wave message that arouses the countryside. The broadcast from Grass Valley has repeatedly halted fleeing criminals.

Sheriff Carl Tobiassen has installed in his office the receiving set which the city rejected. But the city should have one, for minutes are precious when it comes to tracking down a felon in short order. Two car thieves Friday were apprehended in one-two-three time. They were tremendously amazed when they were arrested. The short wave did it. When the new city hall is completed. it is to be hoped the city council will find a way to install a receiving set of their own.

In the meantime, Chief of Police Garfield Robson has installed on his car a small receiving set, at his own expense, that will keep him informed of the going and coming of wanted citizens when he is in the car. Of course, that is better than nothing, but a stationary set in the city hall would be far better.

Naturally enough for any man occupying the nation's highest executive post in the White House, President Roosevelt ardently desires that his second term should be known in history as the "Era of Good Feeling". Every man in small or large spheres of activity desires the same thing. He wishes to be friendly with his neighborhood and his community. But good feeling is something that must come from the heart. It is not something to be handed down from a shelf at a purchase price. John Lewis, the labor leader, proves this. He threw all his support to Roosevelt in the last election and has now flatly demanded his quid pro quo. He asks the President to back labor in its struggle in the steel and motor industries. It goes without saying that as between the administration and the hosts that follow John Lewis, there would be created good feeling. On the other hand the stock holders in the two industries and the consumers of steel and automobiles would probably be amazed and resentful, putting it mildly, if the President complied with Lewis' demand. An "Era of Good Feeling" we surmise will not be possible during Roosevelt's last term. All factions, politically and economically helped elect him. He owes nothing to any one faction that he does not owe to all. Lewis' brazen demand should be heeded in just so far as it is in line with the common good of us all.

We doubt whether in the history of this country there ever has been an era of good feeling in which all the people were contented and satisfied with their government, unless indeed it was during the quarter century immediately following the Revolution. But even then there was wrangling and quarreling among the states, and a rebellious disposition was manifested in many localities against the Federal government. And, on the whole, we doubt whether an era of good feeling is beneficial to a great nation. Rather, is it not better that there should always be a strong body of dissent, militant and ready to fight encroachments of government on private rights, government extravagances or slipshod methods of administration. A critical minority ready to place an accusing finger on the conduct of public officials in order that government, national, state or local, shall keep on its toes, so to speak, and by and large, keep to the law is a salutary influence in national life.

WOLVES, COYOTES KILL DEER NEAR WASHINGTON

E. J. Haverstock, mail carrier between Washington and Nevada City, reported this morning that many deer have been seen about Washington within the last few days. The deer are hungry as there is very little bare ground, everything being covered with snow.

The careaker of the Yuba mine, seven miles above Washington reports coyotes and wolves are killing the deer. Four partly eaten deer have been found within the last few days near the mine.

Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen driving up the highway beyond Truckee yesterday reported that in the vicinity of Floriston he counted up to 120 mule tailed deer feeding within sight of the road, and after that counted several bands of ten or more, one with as many as twenty seven. The snow and the freezing weather have forced the deer down into the sheltered canyons.

Mrs. Finnegan was distinguished by being the first woman postmaster in the history of Nevada City, serving the community in that capacity from 1917 until 1922.

After moving to San Francisco both Mr. and Mrs. Finnegan visited Nevada City many times, thus keeping contact with their many friends here.

Attorney Frank Finnegan who hurried to the bedside of his mother upon receiving news of her illness was also taken ill and confined to bed but is now sufficiently recovered to return to Nevada City to attend the funeral services.

Besides the bereaved husband and children, two sisters survive the deceased, Mrs. Bessie Burnham of Yakima, Washington and Mrs. Effie Huen of South Bend, Washington.

The remains were brought from San Francisco by the Holmes Funeral Home.

FATHER AND SON FOUND DEAD

Last evening at seven o'clock Mrs. Babe Sigourney Sumner employed at the National hotel in this city, received the sad message of the death of her husband, Lynwood F. Sumner and father, W. H. Sumner, in Sacramento during the past week end. They had been heard about their apartment during Saturday evening. When they were not seen about the next day police were called and found the two men fully clothed lying on their bed and the gas plate without a vent had both burners lighted. They evidently turned on the light to heat the apartment before lying down to go to sleep.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyers returned Saturday from a visit with relatives and friends in Salinas, San Bruno and San Francisco. Mr. Meyers expects to leave in a short time to take a position in a steel rolling mill.

ENGINEERS FIND ALLEGHANY ROAD TO COST $105,944

Estimates of a proposed new construction and improvement of the road between Nevada City and Alleghany were sent to the Forest Service office by Engineer Giles A. McHenry after a survey made at the request of hte citizens of Alleghany. McHenry and a crew of men furnished by Ray Hawkins, R. C. Bennett of the 16-to-1 mine and R. C. Scribner of the Kenton mine made the survey. The estimate for the proposed road is $105,944. Money must come from state or relief funds as the forest service has no funds for the work. McHenry's recommendation is that a large part of the old road be used with excavation and widening improvements. The proposed new road would have a 6 per cent grade as compared with the present 10 to 15 per cent grade, which makes driving dangerous. The new route would make the distance between Nevada City and Alleghany 43.5 miles instead of 36.7 miles, the present distance.

YELLOWJACKETS DEFEAT LINCOLN

(By FRED GARRISON

In two fast games at the Pottery City, the Nevada City high school Yellowjackets won their first league games and lived up to their names by taking the sting out of the Lincoln high school A and B teams. Nevada City, so far defeated in the league now has a chance to prove itself a fast and spirited and victorous team. This places Nevada City ahead of Lincoln in the league standings and the "Jackets" hope to travel to the top.

,The preliminary game was chucked with thrills and proved to be one of those games where a team is behind and comes up and beats its opponents. In the first half of the game the scoreboard showed 15 to 9 in favor of the Lincolnites, but much to the surprise of the pottery city rooters, the Yellowjackets came ahead in the last half of the B game and defeated the opponents 32 to 27. Graham and Gates played an outstanding game for Barron's boys and scored 11 and 10 points respectively. The rest of the individual scoring was as follows: Lotz—7; Karl Kopp—5; and Kennedy—1. Warren Goldsmith, Phil Angove and Eddie Doolittle also saw action in the contest.

In the varsity A game, the Nevada City boys came out on the court at the beginning and started scoring and made it very plain to the valley rooters that the "Hill Billys" from up in "them thar hills" were going to defeat them. The final score of the A game was 35 for the Yellowjackets and 16 for the Lincolnites. Bill "Butch" Bennett, Nevada center, starred for the locals by chalking up 14 points in his favor. In the rest of the individual scoring tabulations Cliff Hoff made 12; Todd Bonner 3; Melvin Clark 3; Tony Perez 2; and Phil Joyal 1. Tobiassen also saw action in the game.

The boys and students of the local high school are extremely pleased because of this winning and hope they can keep up the good work and put up a good showing the second half of the Sierra Foothill League.

They Need Your Help

Even the most discouraged among the thousands of children afflicted with infantile paralysis should be able to muster a smile on the evening of January 30, the President's birthday.

In virtually every community throughout the nation, people will gather for a celebration in some auditorium or hall, and the money they pay at the boxoffice will go to make it possible for youngsters with twisted legs to walk again.

One thing about this President's birthday ball seems to illustrate that perhaps human nature is fundamentally noble, after all. There were millions, albeit the minority, who did their utmost during the last year to keep Mr. Roosevelt out of office. And yet you may be sure that those who most violently oppose his policies will be well represented at the ball on his birthday.

You'd be surprised what miracles surgeons are able to work on warped little bodies. They have been able to lengthen a shriveled leg or arm as much as three inches. They transplant muscles to bring back the use of a limb, straighten out crooked backs, and stabilize ankles and shoulders.

But these operations are expensive, and many under privileged childhen cannot afford them. Thus it was that the "ball" idea came about, each community sending 30 per cent of the funds to the national foundation, and retaining the remainder for treatment of its own crippled youngsters.

Buy a ticket or two or three, if you can. It may give some child a new chance in life.—Contributed.

FATHER OF GRASS VALLEY MANDEAD

With theories of a hit and run accident giving way to those of robbery and murder, the death of George F. Douglas, father of Fred Douglas of Grass Valley was still a mystery today. The elderly retired railroad man was found unconscious on a Sacramento street at 2:20 a. m. Friday morning and died seven hours later in a hospital without regaining consciousness. It was at first believed that he was the victim of a hit and run driver but a package containig Douglas' watch, ring and a stick pin was delivered to Mrs. Adele Smith, friend of Douglas, with a note reading "Your are more deserving of these things than anyone else. You have done him more good. We don't want them, we wanted money."

A friend of Douglas informed police that Douglas feared a man who was a tenant in the same apartment building in which he lived. The tenant was Ryphe K. Perry who has been questioned by police.

Fred Douglas hurried to Sacramento upon learning of his father's injuries and arrived before his father died but the injured man did not regain consciousness.

'BATTLE HYMN' ON STAGE IN S. F.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—The widely heralded bigger and better program for 1937 of the San Francisco Federal Theatre Project will have an auspicious premiere Thursday night, January 28 when it presents the epic historical drama "Battle Hymn" at the Columbia. It will be away to a good start. The entire house is practically sold out for the first night and the heaviest advance reservation list for the remainder of the run is piling up, it was reported at the theatre today.

"Battle Hymn" will test the talents of approximately 100 actors. It has made the greatest demands on the Project's scenic department of any play yet produced by the government players. It has required the longest time in preparation of any of the plays. The costuming department has been at work for many weeks turning out the required authentic habiliments of statesmen, plainsmen, soldiers, frontiersmen, and women of the 50's and prior to that the entire research department was busily engaged combing through libraries, museums and private collections of early day souvenirs, keep sakes and curios in its search for facts regarding the period of the play.

The play is by Michael Gold and Michael Blankfort. It is built around the stirring times when John Brown moved to Kansas and there with his fighting family became the center of strife that eventually culminated in civil war. There are three prologues, one before each act, ten scenes and an epilogue. There are some novel innovations in stage presentation; some rarely beautiful stage settings and lighting and from beginning to end the book is packed with thrilling drama. William E. Watts who directed "It Can't Happen Here" and "The First Legion," directed "Battle Hymn." Every actor who has distinguished himself in past project productions has a speaking part in "Battle Hymn."

Gilmore Brown, of the regional advisory staff and head of the Pasadena Community Players, pronounced the production the most finished he has seen done by any of the Federal Theatre Projects, on the occasion of his visit the other day when he witnessed one of the final rehearsals.

William Griffith, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is confined to his room in the National hotel with a bad cold. He is under the care of Dr. A. H. Tickell.

GOOD SERVICE COSTS NO MORE

A modern establishment—a trained, intelligent and courteous personnel—distinctive motor equipment and other evidences of progress and prosperity are NOT an indication that funeral service charges will be high. A successful concern can be built only by serving honestly and well, at prices that are fair and reasonable.

RESERVOIRS FILLING ASSURE WATER SUPPLY

Nevada City will not suffer a shortage of water. Improvements and repairs on pipes leading from the intake on the Canada Hill reservoir have augmented the supply. City Superintendent of Public Works Hallett went to Sacramento Thursday to get the larger pipe that would insure that water would not overflow at the intake but would pass all flow into the reservoir. The Sugar Loaf reservoirs are reported as full and the Canada Hill reservoir is filling.

SCHOOLS REOPEN

Nevada City's schools were opened today by school officials. Absences have decreased and the water situation has been remedied. During last week large numbers of students were ill but most of them returned to school within two or three days.

H. Anderson of this city took over the Sinclair oil station on Pine street near the Nevada City high school January 15 and is now in charge. He is the son in law of R. L. P. Bigelow of this city. The many friends of Mr. Anderson and family hope for him success in his new undertaking.

BALLET RUSSE IN SACRAMENTO ON FEBRUARY 2

"Lake of the Swan" which has been termed the "greatest classical Russian ballet," "Aurora's Wedding," famous Tchaikowsky ballet; and tentatively, "The Three Cornered Hat," by de Falla, will be the program to be presented February 2, by the Russian ballet in the Memorial Auditorium, 16th and J streets, Sacramento.

All three presentations are famous in the Ballet Russe's repertoire. The first was one of the outstanding features of the present New York season of the ballet. It is the first of Tchaikowsky's three ballets, with coreography by Marius Petipa, and was first presented in Moscow in 1878. It follows the story of a prince and his retinue who hunt swans by moonlight and find a princess and her hand-maidens. The ballet ends in tragedy when the prince and her maidens are turned into swans.

A ceremonious polonaise, a traditional Russian tumbler's dance and a stately mazurka, are featured in "Aurora's Wedding", classical ballet which survives a ballet produced first in 1890.

The "Three Cornered Hat" is the famous comic ballet, done to music of de Falla. It proved one of the most popular ballets during the company's tour last year, and will be presented in Sacramento for the first time.

The Ballet Russe's performance will be the third attraction of the Sacramento Music Series.

Reservations are being made at Ye Music Shoppe, Sacramento.

Eastern Bride Will Reside in G. V.

At a ceremony January ninth in the St. James Episcopal church of the Kingseeing, Philadelphia, Pa., Miss Maybelle Virginia Christie became the bride of J. Howard Keene of Nevada City. Rev. A. L. Millet read the service at 4:30 o'clock in the presence of a number of friends and relatives. Mrs. Ann Silver of Washington, D. C. was the matron of honor and the brides only attendant. The gridegroom was attended by Miss Christie's brother, Percival Christie.

The traditional wedding marches were played by an intimate friend of the bride. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, wearing a wedding gown of royal blue with hat to match. and carrying a bouquet of American beauty roses.

Following the ceremony a reception and buffet supper were held in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Christie, on North Second street. The young couple left immediately after the reception for Washington, D C., where they spent several days enjoying the city with its many notable places of interest and also saw much of the inaugural preparations.

From Washington they returned to California by a southern route finding the weather excellent for travel except in Texas where they passed through a violent sand storm.

Mrs. Keene is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Christie of Philadelphia and a graduate of the schools there. She had been employed in San Francisco prior to her marriage.

Howard Keene is the son of Mr. who have lived here for several years and Mrs. J. P. Keene of Nevada City coming here from Woodland. Mr. and Mrs. Keene will make their home in Grass Valley.
